Having been a full-time professional photographer for 17 years, I am qualified and a member of the prestigious British Institute of Professional Photographers.

I have a wealth of experience in creating high quality images for the property industry. Understanding the optimum angles and lighting ensures the most memorable and striking effects, whether for small houses or apartments to large high-end properties, hotels, leisure complexes or corporate offices.

I can also create a virtual walkthrough which shows a 360 degree moveable image of any space, link them together to show the space available without visiting. These are viewable on any device, smart phones, tablets or PC's.

Having high quality images of their products is vital for manufacturers and retailers to create a good impression, whether for a website or printed advertising. KSKImaging uses portable lighting which means I can go to my clients and undertake the photography at their own premises.

I have undertaken assignments in Spain, Croatia and Turkey for clients so distance isn't a problem.

I have a passion for photography to ensure outstanding results.
